A very private client came to the design team and Amiri with a wish to add a pool house onto his Lutyens designed house in West Sussex. In order to satisfy the planning authorities the whole development was constructed by carving into the hillside behind the house, minimising the impact of any new building on the form of the existing house.

The project provided a new indoor swimming pool, gym, kitchen, barbeque area, wine store, media suite, tennis court, play area and is finished in ashlar stone walling and copper roof sheeting.
