The first phase of a number of trade counter units to be built on this old industrial site in Havant. Jewsons was a steel framed building, immediately adjacent to the very busy A27 Havant by-pass, on a site that required significant remediation work due to the previous heavy industrial usage. As well as the store there was a very large concrete apron area for heavy and bulky materials storage and display. Mezzanine floor areas in the building provide office space for the store management staff.
